Forgent Networks Responds to Claims Construction Ruling

AUSTIN, TX, Jun 30, 2006 (MARKET WIRE via COMTEX News Network) -- Forgent™ Networks (NASDAQ: FORG) along with its wholly owned subsidiary, Compression Labs, Inc. ("CLI"), today announced its response to the recent claims construction ruling relating to U.S. Patent No. 4,698,672 (the '672 Patent).

"We are shocked and disappointed at the outcome of the claims construction ruling," said Richard Snyder, chairman and CEO of Forgent. "We find it difficult to reconcile the outcome of the ruling with our continued belief in the patent and our case. We are currently weighing our options and will decide our course of action in the near future."

Forgent has pending litigation against approximately 30 companies for infringement of the '672 Patent in the U.S. District Court for the Northern District of California. Following the filing of the litigation, fifteen companies that were defendants have entered into license agreements.

Since its inception more than three years ago, Forgent's intellectual property program has generated approximately $115 million in revenues primarily from licensing the '672 Patent to more than 60 different companies in Asia, Europe and the United States. The '672 Patent relates to digital image compression used in digital still image devices that compress, store, manipulate, print or transmit digital still images such as digital cameras, personal digital assistants, cellular telephones, printers, scanners and certain software applications. The company's patent portfolio includes the combined inventions of Compression Labs, Inc., VTEL Corporation and Forgent Networks, Inc.
